L'idée de logique naturelle chez Jean-Blaise Grize – essai de synthèse –

Abstract: The present text provides a general picture of Jean-Blaise Grize's views regarding natural logic. The analysis of the Aristotelian anticipations regarding the concept of logic, of the modern (axiomatic) logic's criticism towards the intuitive character of the Aristotelian traditional logic, of the contemporary reaction towards the artificiality and the arbitrariness of the axiomatic logic which led to the emergence of the natural logics represents the key point which the author relates to in the attempt to propose his own natural discursive logic. The latter is structured around several basic ideas which constitute its content of problems: discursive schematization, discursive operation, informal reasoning, credibility. Some developments of this system of logic are also pointed out.

Keywords: natural logic, discursive schematization, discursive operation, informal reasoning
